From The Chairman of the Board and President

It is our distinct pleasure and honor to invite you to the American Society of Interventional Pain Physicians' (ASIPP) 13th Annual Meeting, in Washington, DC on Saturday, June 25 through Wednesday, June 29 at the Hyatt Regency Crystal City in Arlington, VA.

ASIPP began the tradition of meeting in Washington on a yearly basis in 1999. This year in an effort to meet the needs of interventional pain physicians and other providers as well, we have created an educational program of the highest caliber with a focus on three very important topics for physicians, staff, and other healthcare providers all under the primary theme "A VISION FOR IPM IN A NEW DECADE"; Evidence-Based Medicine, as well as Comparative Effectiveness in Interventional Pain Management and the Essentials of Practice Management. Because of today's environment of regulatory and competitive issues, we must be completely informed in order to assure the emerging specialty of interventional pain management does not become extinct. The preservation of interventional pain management is in our hands.

This year's program should prove to be one of the most exciting, enriching, and memorable of any meeting we have ever held. This year's meeting will be a unique event; a five-day session focused on "A VISION FOR IPM IN A NEW DECADE." When will you have another opportunity to hear this many great and learned speakers address subjects as current and relevant as evidence-based medicine and comparative effectiveness?

We also offer an extensive practice management session featuring several comprehensive coding and compliance lectures. This session is ideal for physicians but is invaluable for their staff. You could consider sending your staff to this meeting as an investment. They will walk away armed with the information they need to better understand the billing and coding issues they face on a daily basis.

Monday, June 27 we will kick-off our annual legislative session. We are pleased to announce that the North American Neuromodulation Society (NANS) is cosponsoring this event with us this year. You won't want to miss this historical meeting. With NANS and ASIPP as cosponsors, this year promises to be the best and most productive legislative session to date. On Tuesday morning, June 28, we will once again take the meeting to Capitol Hill. Because ASIPP recognizes the significance of this legislative tradition, we encourage you to stay through Tuesday to hear several representatives and senators address us on the issues that affect you and your practice.

The faculty is made up of experts in the field of IPM, practice management, and governmental affairs. We are honored to have Joseph T. Rannazzisi, DEA Deputy Assistant Administrator for the Office of Diversion Control will address the agencies' role in controlling substance abuse. Dr. James Rathmell speaks on Evidence-Based Medicine: An Academic Perspective from Harvard. From the U.K., speaker Dr Sanjeeva Gupta gives us a sneak peek of IPM in the U.K. and Europe. Whether you have been a member of ASIPP since its inception, are a new member, or have yet to become a member, we are confident that this event will provide the much needed information to help you in the evolving specialty of interventional pain management.

We hope you are as excited to attend the ASIPP 13th Annual Meeting in Washington, DC, as we are to present it. On behalf of the Board of Directors of ASIPP, we welcome you to join us for one of the most distinguished and beneficial meetings you will attend all year.

Don't miss this unique opportunity provided to you by the American Society of Interventional Pain Physicians.

Sincerely,

Laxmaiah Manchikanti, MD
