

BIOGRAPHY

---

Frank J. Falco, MD

Treasurer – ASIPP
Mid-Atlantic Pain Institute
Newark, Delaware

Frank John English Falco, M.D. is a widely-recognized expert and pioneer in the treatment of disorders of the muscle and skeletal systems and has headed Mid Atlantic Spine since 1995.

Dr. Falco first received a Bachelors of Chemical Engineering from Villanova University before entering medical school. After earning his medical degree at Temple University Medical School in Philadelphia, Dr. Falco received specialty training in spine and sports medicine and in physical medicine and rehabilitation. He interned with St. Luke's Hospital in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania and completed a physical medicine and rehabilitation residency with Temple University Hospital as Chief Resident. In addition, Dr. Falco completed spine and sports medicine fellowships with Southeastern Orthopedic Associates in Pensacola, Florida and Georgia Spine and Sports Physicians in Smyrna, Georgia. He was received numerous awards and honors, including the Sixth Richard W. Stow PhD Visiting Lectureship, Top Quartile Parts I and II, Excellence of Research Writing Award, the Dorthea Daniels Glass MD Award and Intern of the Year among many others.

Dr. Falco is licensed in seven states and is board-certified by the National Board of Medical Examiners, the American Board of Pain Medicine, Electrodiagnostic Medicine, the American Board of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, and the American Board of Pain Medicine. Dr. Falco is President of the Delaware Society of Interventional Pain Physicians, Secretary of the American Society of Interventional Pain Physicians and is on their Board of Directors, serves on the Board of Directors for Society of Interventional Pain Management Surgery Centers and is on the Editorial Board of SpineUniverse. Dr. Falco is a faculty member with the Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Department at Temple University and is the Director of the Physical Medicine Fellowship at Temple University. He also acts as an expert witness in physical medicine and rehabilitation for the National Association of State Jury. Additional active memberships include: the American Academy of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, the Association of American Physiatrists, the Association of Electrodiagnostic Medicine, the Physiatric Association of Spine, Sports and Occupational Rehabilitation, the American Academy of Pain Medicine, the International Spine Injection Society, the American Society of Regional Anesthesia, the American Medical Association, the Pennsylvania Medical Society, and the Delaware Medical Society.

Before Mid Atlantic Spine, Dr. Falco practiced as a physiatrist with Georgia Spine and Sports Physicians. His research has been published in countless articles, chapters and books, including "Clinical Orientation to Spinal Anatomy", "Lumbar Spine Disorders", "Three Pathways between the Sacroiliac Join and Neural Structures" and others. Dr. Falco has presented numerous lectures, seminars and posters across the country on the treatment of pain and spine disorders and is considered in the medical field as one of the top interventional spine specialists.